Aboriginal Contact Line

Phone 1800 019 123

Hours 8am to 6pm, Monday to Friday

Victims Services has a dedicated contact line for Aboriginal victims of crime who would like information on victims rights, how to access counselling and financial assistance.

If you are an Aboriginal person who is a victim of crime in NSW, you can call our confidential enquiry line. Our Aboriginal Contact Officer will give you information about Victims Services and refer you to the best person to help you.

Charter of Victims Rights

Victims have rights that are protected under the Charter of Victims Rights.

The Charter of Victims Rights is about how all NSW government departments and providers funded by the NSW Government should treat you if you are a victim of crime.

The Charter obliges agencies to ensure that a victim is at all times treated with courtesy, compassion and cultural sensitivity, and that their rights and dignity are respected.

Further information

Further information is available on our website. If you have any difficulty downloading any forms or would like help completing applications please contact Victims Services. Our Victims Access Line staff can assist you.
